Kiara Peregrine-Versi

- Overview
- Kiara Melody Versi "Future"
- They Call it a Supernova...

Overview

Kiara, or as she likes to be called Ki, is an agent of chaos. Typically found in reckless abandon in search of some way to feed her curiosity. She was born to the the Shepard Gabriella Versi and the Vampire Queen Rowan Peregrine. This unique combination seems to have turned her into some anomaly of the life stream.

She posits it was her grandmother that urged the union with the singular goal to create said anomaly, though it nearly ended the life of her and her birth mother.

Kiara herself is quite timeless, having seen and done much in the endless universe of stories. And many different "versions" of herself have come together in harmony and memory.

SPOILERS BELOW

Baby Kiara. Known for her giggles and bright eyes she is ever watchful and intelligent as along with her spirit companions learn and grow.

Golden City Kiara. As the Stargazer of the others and the Shepard of the Future she is revered and also prosecuted highly for her actions. It is this Kiara that learns of the "secret" of the others and her nature. She sets in motion the sundering of her memories.

KiKi. Always the explorer she is getting into constant trouble throughout the Verse. This is the first Kiara that manages to slip into the echo of her mother during The Communal, and is the first one to make contact with her family.

Queen of Stars. An amalgamation of Kiki and the Golden City Kiara, the Queen of Stars sits atop her throne in the Golden City while scheming to bring their downfall. The Queen of Stars is the Kiara that further ruptures the echo.

"Future". Pulled unwillingly into the echo and the most knowledgeable of the Others ploy, she is in a war with her own birth mother to bring the downfall of the Others who are using her and her mother to stay connected to the Material planes. Its this Kiara that is second to meet her family. This Kiara is an entirely different multi-verse Kiara that has no ties to the others. This provided her with a unique opportunity.

SPOILERS: While she does not know it, her path will lead her to realize that the combination of both, her being a memory and the vampire blood seems to have fused her being as a memory in her families blood. This will eventually lead to the downfall of the Versi but save her from being torn asunder in the process. Her mother believes that should the others fall, then Kiara will die along with them and so feels indebted to them.

Kiara Melody Versi "Future"

Description: Kiara wears her near white hair in buns or a ponytail to keep it out of her face. recently she has started experimenting with coloring her hairs tips. Her silver eyes glow with a golden edge and are often bright with mirth. Her skin is more rosy then her mothers are with a softer freckles that reach past her neck.

Personality: Kiara as a child was more serious then most, and very focused, as she aged and the world changed and she grew and experienced, she became more guarded. This wall was formed into a sassy and almost childish attitude, a self absorbed and introverted person. Often this wall inhibits her but more often then not it protects her, and when she lets the adult in her reemerge she does so at her own expense to serve those around her.

Likes: Art, Punk/Folk Music, Cold Coffee drinks, Moogles, Trains

Dislikes: Butterflies

History

Childhood

This Kiara has come to be known as the "future" Kiara, though how true that is not inherently known. In her world she died during child birth permanently. It wasn't till her mother Gabriella did her first "Communal" for the Versi that Kiara was born back into the world. As a Spirit she has found herself with plenty spiritual companions.

Diss - A white furred wolf pup with black paws and silver/blue eyes.

Nieve - A Crystalline drake that glimmers like diamonds.

Miyako - The first, Kiara's guide in life, this black fox is like night except for the moon shaped white spot of fur on her forehead.

Aether - A White feathered Raven

Jojo - A Meerkat with white strips and platinum eyes.

Perch - A Wise owl , her second guide spirit. They became attached in Kiara's later years.

Melody "Dee" - The most recent addition and the only spirit companion that she has after being ejected from Etherys, the spirit of Gabriella's first child that visits Kiara in space.

Kiara's childhood consisted of training with her parents and godfather while taking care of her brother and sister. While she was a child of theirs's she felt different and had a tendency to disappear to explore.

Kiara and the Marlboro. When Kiara was about 12 summers she started playing a game with the local flora, more specifically mandrakes and Marlboro. The game would be that she would attempt to catch a Marlboro's tonsils. She wouldn't manage to do so until 6ish months of trying, and did so by using a metallic lance to pierce the Marlboro's mouth open while she leaps in and cuts the tonsils from the beast. Almost being captured as the thing managed to snape the pipe. She returned home often after these events smelling like a decaying sewer, something her parents interrogated her about often without results.

Kiara and the Lost City of Metal. With Polom the moggle, Kiara delved into the far northern parts of the lake beside her parents cottage. At 10 Summers she dove in and searched the ruins to find an undead city of automatons that attacked her on site. She spent many afternoons exploring and even when Polom grew bored of the city Kiara went searching in wonder.

Kiara and the Red Chocobo. Simply Put, Kiara attempted to wrestle a red chocobo, She isnt even sure how it happened but when met witht he challenge she though; "why not".

Eventually when she turned 24 summers she left the cottage leaving only a letter to comfort her parents as she set off in search of herself.

Adulthood

As Kiara left to search for answers and more adventures she often found herself learning more then she was capable of understanding. As a vampire blooded child she found herself in places she shouldn't be and around those she had to be weary of. With her spirit bonds she was well taken care of.

Kiara and Jaim'e. Kiara's first love was a Hume man from a village around the Royal City of Rabanastre, she settled down for a half a decade they were together, but after finding out she was pregnant, Jaim'e asked her to stay with him and she did. That was until she lost the child through miscarriage and another star was birthed into the sky. Jaim'e blamed her for the loss but Kiara could never sit still, and with the excuse she left crossing the sea to Uldah.

They Call it a Supernova...

I was alone in the din of the T1, its armor caused the softest movements to echo, and even more so the softest of sniffs to seem like fireworks. I was back... but I wasn't alone as I clutched my hands against my chest praying. I felt a hand touch my arm gently and Melody stared up at me with a smile. "I'm coming with you" the little spirit said firmly as we both stared at the black hole before us.

“I’m so scared Dee”, I whimpered behind the hair that fell into my face hiding the tears that washed my cheeks, I rubbed them away roughly. I wanted nothing more to hide away again, my heart swelled and burst as I watched the light between my hands.

“What if it’s not enough!”, I screamed as I sobbed, I felt the swirling of energy within my chest grow.

Melody took my hands in hers, her own chest glowed softly and for the first time there wasn’t the spirit I remembered. The silver eyes stared back at me, her own white hair like straw, and her skin warm as she crawled into my lap; she was more alive than ever. “You aren’t alone, Kiki… I'm scared too, but can you feel them praying… can you feel them beside you… Lets save Mama… lets find life again together… tell the whole world, demand it of what you want Ki!”

I shook as I clutched at Melody tightly as we sobbed the energy becoming harder and harder to ignore as the T1 drifted closer and closer to blackhole.

“We are gunna save Mama and we are gunna send her back so the others have her back! We are gunna protect this world from the others! No matter what it takes!” I screamed, frightening myself at my vitriol.

“Say it again and ill say it with you!”, Melody shook me hard as the light became to bright to look past, our eyes closed tight as we saw each and everyone of them; they were so happy. We screamed together as the shell of the T1 shook and cracked, we felt ourselves ripped out into the nothingness as the lights grow and grow.

“No matter what it takes!” echoed into space as with an explosion of light the energy burst from the center leaving everything touched in its wake, the black hole shuddering against the energy, as it echoed in screams of the Others. In the last moments, I saw her… Mama smiled, her arms stretched to hug us together. Not a word was said as she faded and the darkness consumed us, the others torn and splintered throughout realities.

I think... they call this a supernova...